◯ Work ethic

I am an undergraduate student at Sri Lanka Technological Campus (SLTC), specializing in Cybersecurity. Passionate about safeguarding digital systems and understanding the complexities of cyber threats, I focus on vulnerability assessment, threat analysis, and risk management. Through my academic coursework, I have gained hands-on experience in network security, ethical hacking, and cryptography. I am committed to applying my knowledge to real-world cybersecurity challenges, and I actively seek opportunities to further develop my skills while contributing to the advancement of secure digital environments.
